

JAPANESE LANGUAGE COURSE FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

The Japanese Language Course for International Students is a preparatory course for international students who wish to pursue a degree program after the completion of the course.

In this preparatory course, students undertake a year-long (or a six-month-long) intensive training to develop their skills in listening, speaking, reading and writing Japanese.

The course's curriculum and textbooks are developed by our experienced teaching staff. Lessons in fundamental subjects such as Japanese society, politics, economics and history are provided for students specializing in liberal arts, while lessons in mathematics, and physics are offered for students specializing in Science and Engineering.

After one semester, high achieving students with a good attendance record will be offered a recommendation for admission or recommendation for -transfer admission to undergraduate schools. (No recommendation for admission into graduate schools is provided.)
